BORDER BATTLE MAY BE DECISIVE BLOW TO VILLA

Rebel Army in Full Retreat, Harried By Carranza's Cavalrymen

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 4.—The repulse of the main Villista army by the Agua Prieta garrison under Gen. Calles appears to be a decisive defeat and the Villa forces are withdrawing, harried by a column of 1000 cavalrymen, with 10 machine guns, dispatched by Gen. Calles to attack the defeated foe and give him no opportunity to make camp and rest.

Reports from Naco state that the Villa wounded in the attack upon Agua Prieta are now commencing to arrive there for treatment and the American customs collector had been advised to prepare for 500 wounded men.

The reports made by the first arrivals among these wounded fighters lead to the belief that Villa will not be in a position to resume his attacks against any of the Carranza garrisons for at least several weeks.

As an evidence of the fading strength of the Villa cause, reports have been received that the Villa garrisons at Ojinaga and La Colorado, in Chihuahua, have surrendered and given up the fight.

FURNISH REFUGE FOR SAMPAHS AT KEWALO HARBOR

Chairman Charles R. Forbes of the harbor commission was yesterday afternoon authorized to prepare plans and specifications for dredging an entrance to Kewalo harbor that it may be used for the location of the large number of sampans which are to be removed from the main harbor. The boats are at present being allowed to tie up at Piers 15 and 16, but are to be moved to Kewalo as soon as possible.

It was also voted by the commissioners to bear one-half of the expense of Chairman Forbes in his proposed trip to Washington this winter. The public utilities commission has already voted to bear the other half.

Discussion came up again as to whether or not John C. Lorenzen shall be retained by the board as port pilot. Capt. Lorenzen has secured only a pilot's license from the federal authorities. It is said, when the rules of the board require a master's license as well. Further discussion of the question will be held at a special meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS ON SALE AT BAZAAR AT BERETANIA MISSION

Judging from the large number of persons attending, the second annual bazaar which is being held at the Beretania Mission this evening, will be an unqualified success. Preparations for the affair have been going on for months, one of the most enthusiastic workers being Mrs. Norman C. Schenck, wife of the superintendent of Chinese work for the Hawaiian Board.

The bazaar contains, among other things, several prettily decorated booths, at which scores of different articles are for sale, many of which are suitable for Christmas gifts. One booth contains Chinese costumes and many beautiful pieces of Chinese embroidery. Almonds, tea and other beverages are being served in a quaintly decorated and furnished room on the second floor of the mission.

FIVE MEN INJURED IN ROCK SLIDE AT LIHUE

LIHUE, Kauai, Nov. 1.—Four Japanese and a Porto Rican were caught in a slide of rock and earth from the hill side near Lihue mill Thursday afternoon, and had to be treated at the hospital. Only one of the men (a Japanese) was really badly injured, and he is still under treatment.

The men were engaged in blasting material to be used in filling the low district back of the mill, to which it was supposed to remove the stables. They had been strictly cautioned to watch out for overhanging rock or earth when blasting, but disregarded that warning, with the result that a large part of the hill crest at that point came down upon them.

Experiments have shown that paper pulp can be economically made from the stalks of the millet that grows prolifically in Manchuria.

MORE WATER USED HERE IN RAINY SEASON THAN DURING DRY SPELLS?

Harry Murray Has Been Conducting Experiments With Pumping Plants of City

Do the people of Honolulu use more water in the wet season than they do in the dry? That is a question that Harry E. Murray, general manager of water and sewer systems of the city, is asking himself.

Mr. Murray has been led to the question by a recent study of the figures submitted to him each day from the pumping stations, showing the exact amount of water handled by the big pumps. According to these figures the wet season has so far brought about no material decrease in the consumption of water by the local citizens.

"Either the owners of property or their servants are still using water for irrigation purposes just as they did in the heat of summer," says Murray, "or else there are large leaks in the fixtures or the mains."

Just which of these two reasons is responsible for the large amount of jumping still going on is as yet undecided by the water manager, and a careful study of figures and statistics is to be made for several days, in the attempt to ascertain the truth of affairs.

May Buy New Instrument.

"If, however," continues Mr. Murray, "I come to the conclusion from my investigation that the water is being wasted through the pipes, I shall strongly advocate the purchase by the city of a pitometer, which is an instrument used for the purpose of determining the exact amount of water that is going through any certain section of pipe at any certain time."

According to the belief of the water manager at least 50 per cent of all the water pumped for the city in summer should be used for irrigation purposes, which means that as soon as the autumn rains start the need for pumping should at once diminish. That it has not diminished is shown by the figures submitted in the last few days.

These figures show that on Friday, the day that the present rainy weather began, there were pumped in the Kalihi and Beretania pump systems 8,353,160 gallons of water. On Saturday 9,035,680 gallons were pumped, and on Sunday, the last day of the month, 9,269,160 gallons. Monday required 8,590,080 gallons and Tuesday required 8,718,840 gallons.

Wide Fluctuations Shown.
This means that during the days in which it was raining generally over the city that water delivered by the pumps varied in amount as follows: From Friday to Saturday, increase 680,000 gallons; from Saturday to Sunday, increase 230,000 gallons; from Sunday to Monday, decrease 700,000, and from Monday to Tuesday, increase 150,000.

On the other hand October 6, which has the highest record of the dry season, registers but 9,940,000 gallons as handled by the Kalihi and Beretania systems. Taking October 6 as maximum, and November 1 as minimum figures, it is found that the approximate difference between the wet and dry weather work is less than 1,500,000 gallons. It should be far more than this in the belief of the manager, and the fact that it is not has led him to suspect that there are large leaks somewhere in the city mains.

Would Save Much Money.
If there are leaks as large as there seem to be the city is losing a large amount of money in cost of pumping operations, and the purchase of a pitometer at from $400 to $500 would be a slight expense in comparison.

Pitometers are portable instruments that may be attached here and there to sections of pipe by merely digging down and boring into the pipe, as is done in case of regular attachments. By them the exact amount of water passing through the pipe may be determined.

Municipal journals received here show that various types of pitometers are now in common use in cities on the mainland, and that in many cases large savings have been realized as a result of their use in tests. New York City water officials recently located with a pitometer a leak which was wasting 3,000,000 gallons of water daily.

NO QUORUM PRESENT, BUT ANDREWS' DELEGATES REFUSE TO ADJOURN

Discovery at the chapter convention meeting last night that there were present seven less members than enough to make a quorum brought a motion to adjourn by a minority member and the subsequent misunderstanding of some remarks of Lorrin Andrews by a squad of his delegates present led to a comic opera situation which could hardly be surpassed in fiction.

Andrews, after the motion to adjourn had been put, said that he was sorry there was not a quorum present, because it was now necessary to get down to business and finish reading the charter if the convention proposed to accomplish anything.

"Mr. Young has informed me," Andrews said, "that we cannot use the room in which we are holding our meetings either Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday of next week. This will shorten our time, and unless we get to work this week, we will not succeed in framing a charter at all."

DAVIS THINKS DOORS OF JUDGES' CHAMBERS WERE OPEN ALL NIGHT

Another solution to the federal court "burglary mystery" was reached yesterday. Foster L. Davis, deputy court clerk, says he arrived in the federal building at 6:45 o'clock last Saturday morning and that the door leading from the corridor into the court room, and the door leading from the court room into Judge Clements' chambers were open.

In Davis' opinion, Lau Wah, court messenger, left the doors open the night before. Lau Wah arrived in the building quite a while after Davis had come in, said the deputy clerk. Davis takes issue with Marshal J. J. Smiddy regarding the latter's theory that on Saturday morning Lau Wah forgot his keys and climbed over the transoms of Judge Sanford B. Dole and Judge Clements' chambers in order to open the doors to those rooms. Davis says he has made a personal investigation, and as far as he can ascertain, there is no evidence of anyone having climbed over the transoms.

TEUTONS IN SERIOUS PERIL ON EAST FRONT.
LONDON, England, Nov. 4.—Russia has begun a gigantic offensive reaching from the Gulf of Riga to the border of Rumania, according to news from German sources.

In the Riga district the Russians are reported to have pierced von Hindenburg's front in the vicinity of Novoloxin. The Teutons have been driven from their trenches there and their position is becoming perilous.

Elsewhere the Russians are attacking fiercely. At some points the Germans are making a desperate resistance and counter-attacking, but it is said the Russians have repulsed all of their drives.

ITALIANS LOSE HEAVILY IN GORIZIA FIGHTING

LONDON, England, Nov. 4.—The Italians continue to bombard the Gorizia district heavily with their artillery, according to reports from Rome, but their infantry attacks have failed at all points. The Austrians are making a determined stand. Vienna reports say the fighting has been so severe and the Austrian defense so strong that several Italian regiments have lost half their effective strength.

MAKE FERTILIZER OF FALLEN LEAVES FROM THOMAS SQUARE TREES

Thomas square is to have a compost heap in the near future, a large hole dug in the earth into which all the leaves of the trees, having fallen to the ground, may be swept and served for use as fertilizer. The leaves will be emptied into the hole, and then no other care will be needed, save to see that plenty of rain falls upon them. Gradually the leaves rot and form fertilizer of passing fineness. Formerly the leaves have been carted off to the garbage grounds and burned.

The hole dug for the compost heap will be both deep and large, and will be surrounded by a strong fence to keep children from falling into it, and also by a hibiscus hedge to add to its beauty. A. K. Vierra, who is working on the plan at the instance of Mrs. F. J. Lowrey of the city planning commission, says he will get to work on the heap in a few days.

The state department announces that Minister Whitlock's health has broken down and that he is to be given a leave of absence from his post.

COST-FINDING SYSTEM PUTS PRINT SHOPS ON SOUND BUSINESS BASIS

W. R. Farrington Tells of Discussions at Convention of Master Printers

The value of business administration in printing establishments, was impressed strongly on W. R. Farrington, general business manager of the Star-Bulletin, on his recent mainland trip. It was a live topic for discussion at the convention of the master printers in Los Angeles a few weeks ago. Speaking of the convention and the vital subjects discussed, Mr. Farrington says:

"In Los Angeles I attended the national convention of the American Typothetae and Ben Franklin Clubs of America. Briefly put this means the master printers of the United States and Canada. The purpose of this organization's life is to spread the gospel of putting the printing business of the country on a business basis. This organization is responsible for the development of the uniform standard cost-finding system, and its present adoption by every business-like printing establishment throughout the country.

"As a result of the work of this organization it was possible for Edwin S. Gay, dean of the Harvard school of business administration, to say: 'The printing trade is the only industry that has a properly developed cost accounting system.'

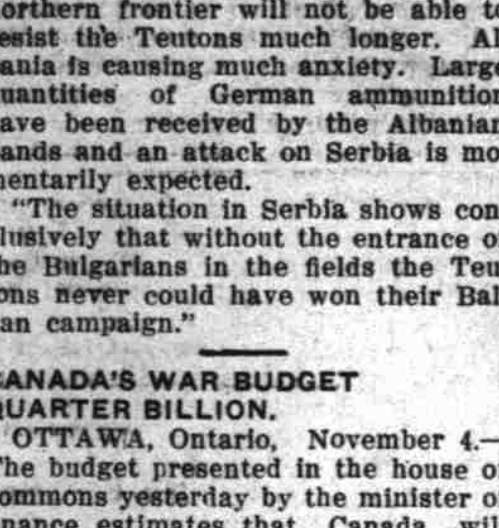

"Incidentally the Star-Bulletin is the only establishment in Hawaii that uses this cost accounting system. I can assure you that it was a pleasure to find myself in such good company. These printer businessmen assembled in Los Angeles were thorough, wide-awake, progressive men. They are responsible for the apprentice school for printers in Indianapolis; also for the special school for printing in the Carnegie technology school; and further for the special course in printing that is a feature of the Harvard school of business administration. A prominent young printer of San Francisco has recently graduated from this school and entered business.

"The men of the American Typothetae aim to arouse the printers of the country to the folly of doing work for nothing—an old-time habit of the printing business which has been with the burden of workmen, skilled workmen and fine fellows, who have started up small establishments run by men who had a fine knowledge

'Frisco Port Collector Advised to Use Discretion in Enforcement of Seamen's Act
